THE "AMERICAN BOY."
Congressman Berry thinks the Battleship Will Be Constructed.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—Rankin C. Good, the high school cadet who is promoting a scheme to name one of the first-class battleships the American Boy, giving the school boys of the United States the privilege of contributing to the cost of its construction, recently called upon Congressman Berry in Newport, Ky., to seek aid in the undertaking.
Col. Berry states that he promised to introduce a bill in Congress providing that the ship shall be named the American Boy; that he is in correspondence with Chairman Boutwell of Maine, of the Committee on Naval Affairs, and that it was probable that the resolution would be favorably reported upon.

Other Members of the Force Disclosed the Treachery of Their Companions—The Abbey's Cargo—Soldiers' Doings.

MANILA, Oct. 15, 9:10 a.m.—[By Manila Cable.] The authorities were informed yesterday from reliable sources that an outbreak in the poorer districts of Manila had been carefully planned for daylight Sunday. It failed to occur, probably on account of the vigorous measures enforced. Many natives of the Tondo district left, taking their valuables. All the small shops which the guards usually force to close at 8:30 p.m., were shut at sunset. A general feeling of uneasiness was apparent.

The guards of the city were doubled, and a strong force stationed at the slaughter house, the center of an unruly section. Two guns of the Sixth Artillery were stationed near by at a point commanding the native quarters. The commanders of the reserve troops were ordered to be prepared for a call by daylight.

Three native policemen have been arrested on a charge of plotting an uprising. The fact that their comrades informed the authorities of their treachery indicates that the police force is loyal.

AMONG THE REGIMENTS.
Forty-ninth United States Infantry, Colored, Soon to Go.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—The next regiment to go to the Philippines after the Thirty-first Infantry, which has been in quarantine on Angel Island, is the Forty-ninth United States Infantry, a colored regiment. Several officers of that regiment have arrived and the regiment is expected to reach here from the South this week. The Eleventh Cavalry is rapidly getting into shape to go to the front.

The First Washington Regiment will be mustered out October 31, and will leave immediately for home. The First Montana Regiment will be paid off tomorrow, and leave for home Wednesday evening.

The Kansas regiment expects to be mustered out November 2.

HUNGRY FOR FIGHTING.
Soldiers Desert at Honolulu to Get to Manila.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—The steamer Gaelic brings the following advice from Honolulu, under date of October 8.

"The hospital ship Relief, and the transports Tacoma, Sherman and Grant have all departed for Manila. Previous to the departure of the Tacoma, the military authorities caused a search to be made for five soldiers of the Hospital Corps stationed here, who had deserted themselves away from the ship in the hope of getting to Manila. It is thought that the other two missing men are on the Tacoma.

"The Sixth Artillery batteries stationed here have lost between twenty and thirty men during the last few days by desertion. All the soldiers here are anxious to go to Manila. They men think they can steal aboard a transport and on arrival report to the officers of the Sixth at Manila and escape with slight punishment. The soldiers are willing to stand thirty days in the guardhouse for the sake of getting to the scene of the war.

"The British ship Antiope, which has been in port since July 3, will be kept here for months longer. Capt. Murray, who owns and commands the vessel, desires to take her to the sound for a cargo of coal, but she is held here by the agents of W. R. Grace & Co., who have made a deal with her on account of the captain's refusal to accept a charter they made for her. They demand $2400 damages, alleged to have been sustained as a result of his action. The case is likely to be settled in the courts here.

"The transport Centennial arrived from San Francisco on the 5th. She brought 300 horses, sixty of them hanging in slings, and ready to die from simple exhaustion. Two of them died after reaching port.

"The horses had been at sea for eight days, each one fastened to a stall just behind the other, and long enough for their bodies. For eight days the suffering animals had no sleep, nor rest whatever. They stood and kept balance with the rolling of the ship. A few days more and many deaths from exhaustion could not have been avoided. The horses started as fresh, spirited animals brought from Nevada and Oregon. They arrived thin and jaded, and a large proportion of them were only kept alive by stimulants. About twenty gallons of alcohol were given to the horses during the Centennial's trip. The animals were unloaded here, and will be turned

NO RECEPTION
AT SIOUX CITY.

But the People Cannot Be Blamed.
The President Would Not Have One on Sunday.
His Train Arrived Too Late for One Saturday.

First Methodist Church's Overflow Meeting—Talk to Sunday-school Pupils—Senator Allison is With the Train.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SIOUX CITY (Iowa), Oct. 15.—Sunday has been a quiet day for the Presidential party. At 10 o'clock this morning the train was brought down to the Union station from a siding, and the President and Mrs. McKinley, with some members of the Cabinet, were conveyed in carriages to the First Methodist Church. Although no announcement had been made of the President's intention to attend services at this church, the building was crowded, and large numbers waited outside, unable to obtain admission.

After services, the party was conducted by members of the local committee to the Sunday-school of the Whitefield Methodist Church, where the President was presented to the school by ex-Congressman George D. Perkins. Addressing the members of the Sunday-school the President said: "In the moment I shall turn, I have only time to say to this group of young people and older people, 'farewell' and wish for all of them the realization of all that is noble in life and church, under a government of high privilege and great opportunity."

Shortly after noon, the Presidential train was taken from the Union station and again conveyed to a siding track, five miles from the city, in order to avoid the scrutiny of the large crowds which continued to throng about the depot. The people of Sioux City expressed considerable disappointment because of the late arrival of the train, last night, and the consequent inability to carry out the programme arranged for, and allow all the people a glimpse of the chief magistrate.

The President has been urged to attend receptions and other functions of a public character today, but has steadfastly refused, preferring to spend Sunday quietly. Toward evening the President's private car was detached from the train, and he and the members of the Cabinet were again conveyed to the city, where a quiet dinner was enjoyed at the residence of ex-Congressman Perkins. The train left for the East soon after 10 o'clock.

The weather was intensely disagreeable, great quantities of dust filling the air during the morning, and a heavy wind prevailing. Late in the afternoon a driving rain set in, and continued throughout the evening.

Gov. Shaw and Senator Allison accompanied the train in a private car, and will make the trip with the President as far as Dubuque. Milwaukee will be reached tomorrow evening.

BAD WEATHER
RETARDS FIGHTING.

Masterly Inactivity Rules On Both Sides.
Occupation of Newcastle Did Not Surprise the British.
Boers Evidently Bent on Getting Cecil Rhodes's Scalp.

Reported Engagement South of Kimberley Denied.

Patrol of Six Men Captured at De Jager's Drift—A General Officer Covering Ladysmith—The Railroads Torn Up.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
LONDON, Oct. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] So far as actual news is concerned, very little change in the situation is noticed. The change of affairs at Mafeking can only be conjectured. The occupation of Newcastle by the Boers was prepared for and expected, the place having been abandoned by the British. The Boers are reported to be menacing Kimberley.

Very heavy rain and snows are reported, which hamper the Boer movements, and they are finding that they began too late to easily obtain the initial successes counted upon. They evidently find the advance upon Ladysmith difficult, either from the north or west, as Gen. Sir George Stewart White's reconnaissance seems sufficient to deter them from the present.

The peaks of the Drakensberg range are covered with snow, and the storms which have occurred must have caused the Boers great discomfort, which probably explains their failure to attack Gen. White. Masterly inactivity characterizes the operations of both sides. Persistent rumors are in circulation that the Schreiner ministry of Cape Colony has been dismissed, and that Rose Innes had been asked to form a Cabinet. These rumors, however, are without foundation.

Sir Alfred Milner has wired to Chamberlain the text of an inflammatory circular which Field Cornet Viljoen circulated in Johannesburg some weeks ago with a view of incensing the Afrikaners on both sides of the Orange River against England.

HEAVY ENGAGEMENT REPORTED.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
CAPE TOWN, Oct. 15.—There is an unconfirmed rumor that the imperial forces intercepted a body of Transvaal Boers who were attempting to join the Boer forces at Modder River, and that a heavy engagement occurred at Spysfontein Station, south of Kimberley.

THE REPORT DENIED.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
CAPE TOWN, Oct. 15, 7 p.m.—The rumor that a heavy engagement had occurred at Spysfontein is without foundation. The railway line was torn up for two miles beyond the Modder River, but no mention was made of fighting having occurred.

OCCUPATION OF NEWCASTLE.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Daily Mail's Glencoe correspondent under date of Sunday says:

"A force under Commandant Viljoen from Spysfontein, occupied Newcastle Saturday afternoon, and it is reported they planted their flag over the Town Hall."

"It is rumored that the Boers have captured a police patrol of six men at De Jager's Drift, on the Buffalo River."

ON THE DEFENSIVE.
British not Expected to Do Much Except at Mafeking.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
LONDON, Oct. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] At 9 o'clock last evening the government had received no news of fighting in South Africa, and did not expect any; as no battle is probable except at Mafeking, communication with which place has been cut off and for which considerable anxiety is felt. Elsewhere, however, it is believed the British will remain on the defensive. Lord Salisbury has issued a summons for a Cabinet meeting tomorrow.

The government has secured the steamer Arava, which was to have sailed from Avenmouth tomorrow for Montreal with 1000 passengers. The Australian government has secured the White Star line steamer Medie, now at Melbourne, to convey the Australian contingent to South Africa.

AFTER CECIL RHODES.
Kimberley Besieged—Telegraphic Communication Cut.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
LONDON, Oct. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Daily Mail's Cape Town cor-

representing, telegraphing Sunday evening, says:

"Kimberley is besieged, and the Boers are massing in force. No details, however, are obtainable. The Boers have cut the railway at Belmont, have seized the Spysfontein Railway station, and constructed fortified earthworks. There are strong defending forces at Modder River and the Orange River.

"The object of these energetic operations is believed to be the capture of Cecil Rhodes. Kimberley is now isolated, both railway and telegraphic communication being cut."

COVERED LADYSMITH.

General Officer and a Strong Column Takes Good Position.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] DURBAN, Oct. 15. Afternoon.—[By South African Cable.] The following official statement has been published: "The general officer commanding at Ladysmith issued forth Friday morning with a strong flying column and occupied a position covering Ladysmith. He reconnoitered the enemy, who showed no disposition to advance. They are reported to be inside the Berg at the foot of Tintwa Pass, in force, with a second command at Olifants Hoek. The troops have returned to quarters."

It is reported from Glencoe that a large commando, believed to be Free State Boers, under Commandant Viljoen, is at the foot of Botha Pass, one and one-half miles on the Natal side of the border.

The Transvaal flag has been hoisted at Charlestown, and Commandant Viljoen has sent a message to Newcastle saying the Boers will hoist the Transvaal flag there Saturday, but that the people need not be afraid, as everything the Boers take will be paid for. They want to slaughter the cattle. Many people are left in Newcastle, including women and children.

A train of wagons five or six miles in length was seen descending Molsnek toward Doornkop, north of Wolofdrift.

THE BOERS RETREATED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] DURBAN, Oct. 15. Morning.—Owing to the rigorous censorship maintained, news from the front is greatly delayed, and reaches here in disjointed patches. It is learned from authentic source that a large commando of Boers, including cavalry, artillery and infantry, left Ladysmith early Friday morning with wagons, going in the direction of Acton Homes, where the Boers are reported to be encamped.

The Dublin Fusiliers arrived from Glencoe by train at 11 o'clock, and proceeded in the direction of the front. There has been no engagement, the Boers retreating. The British troops remain at a point ten miles from Ladysmith, with the exception of the Dublin Fusiliers, who returned to Glencoe. Gen. Sir William Symons having wired that an attack was expected there Saturday morning. The Boers possessed Brackwall Station, twenty-five miles west of Ladysmith, and detachments have also been seen by Cape and Natal columns nearer. The carabineers retired and the Boers retreated in the direction of Brackwall.

ROYALTY SUBSCRIBES RELIEF.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Prince and Princess of Wales have each subscribed £200 to the Mansion House fund for the relief of South African refugees.

GREEN'S GREAT DAY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CAPE TOWN, Oct. 15.—Corynham Greene from Pretoria and Consul Evans from Johannesburg, have arrived here. Greene was accorded a magnificent reception. A crowd of 3000 persons who had gathered near "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the Queen" met him.

COMMUNICATING BY SCOUTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] DURBAN, Oct. 14 [Delayed in transmission].—Communication by means of scouts is maintained between Ladysmith and Acton Homes which, it is reported, the Boers have not yet contemplated attacking.

The Free State larger between Varnean's Pass is said to be four miles long and to have at least twelve guns. It is expected that it will await the British attack.

WAITING WITH CANNON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CAPE TOWN, Oct. 14 [Delayed in transmission].—Five hundred Boer troops occupy the border siding, northward of Fourteen Streams with cannons, where they are awaiting orders to destroy the line or attack Fourteen Streams.

The railway telegraph officials have abandoned the Maribogo. The nearest British point in communication, therefore, to Mafeking is understood to be Settlogoli, sixty miles away.

While it is still a matter of belief that the Boers are attacking Mafeking, there is still no confirmation of the reports. If the Boers had met with any success, it would certainly have been announced, as the only telegraphic communication is in the hands of the burghers. The Boers' success, therefore, is regarded as a good sign.

A TRAIN'S ADVENTURE.

Just Escapes an Attack by Boers Near Maribogo.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] VRYBURG, Oct. 15.—[By South African Cable.] A hospital train that started for Maribogo, and which just returned after an adventurous journey, had reached a curve on a culvert 500 yards south of Maribogo, and had just slackened speed when it was observed that the rails ahead had been overturned. The brakes were applied, but the engine passed over one rail partly raised, and was derailed. The occupants immediately righted the engine.

At the same time it was observed that a party of Boers were galloping into line east of the railway, but well on the Cape Colony side of the border. Some of the persons on the train declared that they saw a cannon pointed at the train. The intention of the Boers was apparently hostile. The train ran back to Vryburg at full speed, the engine flying a white flag with a red cross. Picks and shovels were seen lying about, and the Boers had apparently been disturbed while removing the rails.

It is learned that previous to the starting of the train Maribogo telegraphed Vryburg asking that the train be sent up, as all was quite safe. The operator at Vryburg recognized the voice as that of a European store clerk. In view of the subject of the report that the Boers were removing the rails, it is believed the Boers compelled the clerk to speak through the telephone.

The nearest Boer command to Vryburg is located north of Schweizerenrek, twenty miles distant, and two miles inside the Transvaal. The commander sent a message to the Vryburg Railway station saying that if the delivery of three wagonloads of meat and two wagonloads of sugar were made week ago were refused, the Boers would send 200 men to take them. This morning all the goods at the station were made up in two special trucks.

CAPT. NESBITT'S VENTURE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CAPE TOWN, Oct. 15.—The Modder River station master reports that firing has been heard in the direction of Kimberley, and the station master at Belmont telegraphs that a force of Boers is advancing southward.

Flowerdew, the engine-driver of Capt. Nesbitt's train, which was derailed and boarded by the Boers, states that if the train had returned when warning was received that the Boers held the line, it could easily have made its way back to Maribogo, but Capt. Nesbitt insisted upon an endeavor being made to reach Mafeking.

"When the pilot engine was derailed," said Flowerdew, "we spent a long time trying to replace it on the track. Then the Boers commenced firing, and several men were wounded. The firing was kept up all night, but without effect. The Boers were careful to concentrate their fire upon the engine, so as to save the armored carriage and the other cars. They commenced to bombard the cars. I escaped by crawling a mile and a half on my belly in the sand. When both engines were destroyed, Capt. Nesbitt exhibited flags of truce, but the Boers continued their firing for another quarter of an hour. There is no doubt that all the other cars of the train are prisoners, and that the carriage and ammunition intact fell into the hands of the Boers."

FLOWERDEW WAS TERRIBLY BRUISED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CAPE TOWN, Oct. 14.—[Delayed in transmission.] The German Consul-General has issued a proclamation of neutrality, commanding all Germans to hold aloof from hostilities.

CAPE TOWN NOTES.

Alliwal Nosed by Eight Hundred Boers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CAPE TOWN, Oct. 15.—[By South African Cable.] President Steyn of the Orange Free State and President Kruger of the Transvaal maintain direct telegraphic communication.

Alliwal North says that Free State bridge, which heretofore has been a great aid to Boer spies, is now closed and guarded by Cape police.

It is rumored that the Beeste Krall commando, strengthened by 800 Boers from Smithfield, is menacing Alliwal North.

A Kaffir brought from Vryburg by the returning hospital train says he passed the scene of the recent armored train disaster, and saw several bodies of white men lying there.

There is still no reliable news from either Ladysmith or Glencoe, except that a patrol from the latter place exchanged shots with a small body of Boers on the road to Helpmaker. All reports, however, are that the Boers now occupy Newcastle.

Boer tents have been discovered eight miles southeast of Kimberley, in the direction of the Cape Colony. It is believed that the Boers are moving eastward of Kimberley this morning, and that the movement of a large body of troops with wagons, which was reported from the Cape Colony, is in the direction of the Cape Colony.

THE NATAL TROOPS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] DURBAN, Oct. 15.—Following is the strength and disposition of the troops at Ladysmith: 7 batteries, 32 guns, and 4000 infantry; at Estcourt, 200 volunteers, and at Colenso 427 volunteers. These, with the force at Pietermaritzburg, make a total of 10,000.

FORTIFYING LAING'S NECK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] DURBAN, Oct. 15. Evening.—The Boers who have occupied Newcastle consist of Transvaalers, Free Staters and 400 Hollanders. Gen. Joubert is at the head of the Boer force at Laing's Neck, which he is fortifying.

IRVING AND TERRY.

The Celebrated English Players to Do the United States.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] LONDON, Oct. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Despite their earlier intention to take a fabled ship, the English players, Mr. Irving and Mr. Terry, with their full company sailed for the United States this morning on the Atlantic liner steamer Marquette, which is to arrive in New York October 25 or 26.

A large number of professional and personal friends accompanied the actors from the Cape. Among those present were Messrs. Comyns Carr, Henry Dickens, son of the novelist, and Miss Terry and Miss Alma Tadema. To a representative of the Associated Press, Sir Henry said:

"While this is our fifth American tour, I feel that we have never gone to the United States under more auspicious circumstances. In the first place, the country has been more successful than ever before. It is at the present time, and while my personal relations with American theater-goers have been of the most friendly character, it is pleasant to feel that the two nations now recognize the ties of kinship as never before."

"I believe that 'Robespierre,' with which we will open at the Knickerbocker, will justify my faith in transporting such an elaborate production. I wanted to give my American friends something new, and I had them then in mind while selecting the piece. Then, too, it is always an inspiration to play to American audiences, and Miss Terry and myself really look upon our tour as a means of brightening up our faces as well as entertaining our American friends."

DEATH LIST NINE.

Five Bodies Supposed to Be in Nutmeg Street Wreckage.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—All the remains of the steamer Nutmeg Street, which burned to the water's edge Saturday, are the twisted and blackened fragments of iron and steel surrounded by the huge copper bow, which lies in the surf. Somewhere in the debris are believed to be five bodies, but it will be some days before these can be reached. The death list foots up nine.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The press of the city today points out that at the recent reception to Queen Victoria at Berlin, he was especially honored by Emperor William. Funston's candidacy for that office.

Already Senator Baker's friends and the friends of J. Ralph Burton, the other leading candidate, are discussing the best way to get the dashing general off the track.

Some time ago a boom was started for Gen. Funston for Congressman-at-large, but this does not please Cyrus Leland, Republican National Committeeman, who already has a candidate for that place, and who is also regarded as one of Senator Baker's supporters.

Under the head of drydocks, the report points out that the present building program does not affect the two most important navy yards, viz.: New York and Norfolk, at which a new dock of the largest size is urgently needed, in view of the rapid increase of the number of battleships in commission.

Marine railways also are said to be necessary for the economical handling of torpedo boats, and two such are recommended at Portsmouth, League Island, Norfolk, Port Royal and Mare Island.

Under the head of new construction, the report says that the navy department is authorized by the last Congress could not be, because of the limitation placed on the navy department. Nevertheless, complete specifications for these vessels have been prepared and are included in the report. Work on the design of the new vessels is being pushed forward, and it is expected that they will be completed by the end of the year.

Fourteen vessels, with the exception of the Chesapeake and Princeton, torpedo boats, were added to the navy during the last fiscal year. The Spanish vessels sunk during the war were raised, and added, and seventeen new vessels were ordered.

placed on the list. On the other hand, forty-one vessels were dropped from the list, including the American line chartered ships, a number of auxiliary vessels sold, the revenue cutters and lighthouse vessels turned back into the civil service, and a couple of monitors. July 1 there were building for the navy forty-eight vessels, in addition to those enumerated.

In view of the fact that the navy is in a position to build ships at satisfactory prices, the Chief Constructor feels that the time is opportune to renew his recommendation that the department contract with the shipbuilders for the ship complete with outfit, instead of making separate contracts for the hull, machinery, and outfit.

The report is the importance of sheathing ships with a combustible material, and of deepening such material as will be used. The severe tests applied by the war department under trying conditions of climate resulted satisfactorily, and little modification is needed.

The people who are making money," continued Mr. Terrell, "are the farmers, who are getting good prices for their wheat, corn and other products; manufacturers, whose establishments cannot fill orders sent to them months ahead; operatives and laborers; and the people who are making money out of the change in the party administration under which all this has been brought about."

DEMOCRATIC BUSINESS.

Chairman Jones Discusses the Same at St. Louis.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—Chairman Jones of the National Democratic Committee arrived here this evening from New York, and went to the Planters Hotel, where he had a conference with Vice-Chairman Stone and other party leaders tomorrow. He was met by U. Woodson, member of the National Committee from Kentucky, and the two spent some time talking over the situation in the Blue Grass State. Committee man Woodson left soon after his conference with Mr. Jones, and he will meet William J. Bryan tomorrow morning. From there he will escort Col. Bryan through Kentucky on his speech-making tour.

Later in the evening Chairman Jones was closeted with Vice-Chairman Stone, Chairman Johnson of the Executive Committee, Sam B. Cook, Devlin, manager of the press bureau of the National Committee, and other prominent Democrats. They were talking over the political situation, and the developments during Senator Jones' absence in Europe and in arranging the details of tomorrow's conference.

Among other business to be transacted at tomorrow's conference is the transfer to Chairman Jones of the affairs of the National Committee, which have been in the hands of Vice-Chairman Stone. It is believed that the Steiwin fight has been engaging the Democratic faction in Illinois will come up and be settled by some action on the part of Chairman Jones and his associates.

The matter of raising funds with which to carry on the coming national campaign will also come up. The attention of those present tomorrow, Sam B. Cook, having that matter in charge, has several plans to present, and will receive the people of the Senator Jones, when seen after the conference, said:

"The Democratic party will, in my opinion, stand on all national issues in 1900 precisely where it stood in 1896. None of the issues for which it held out that time will be abandoned in 1900."

"Since that time some other great questions have arisen and are demanding attention from the people of the United States. The question of imperialism and of the control of the trusts by the Federal government is the chief of these, and I am of the opinion that they will play a paramount part in the campaign of 1900. Which of these questions will be chief depends on the people. Both are material, and both will be put to the people. It is imperative an issue as then, and it will not be abandoned by the party."

Chairman Jones, speaking of tomorrow's conference, said:

"The present conference is merely an informal meeting of a few members who will fill official positions of importance in the National Committee, to talk over what has been done and what will be done. No changes will be made until I have been before the chairman of the National Committee. None of the important acts of the committee will be done without my knowledge. Gov. Stone wrote me fully concerning every important action of the committee before it was executed. I have, even now, not out of the committee, and I have been at its head, except that I was not present to preside at its meetings. I asked Gov. Stone and Committee man Johnson to meet me here.

"I shall take no part in the campaign in Ohio or Kentucky. Mr. Bryan and Gov. Stone have done as much work there as can be done by non-resident Democrats. I am going back to my home as directly as I can, and follow the advice of my physicians to do no active campaign work."

"A friend of mine, I have heard discuss the situation and appear to be very hopeful of success in both States. I, myself, have not been able to familiarize myself thoroughly with the situation there, but I share the hope of my friends."

NEEDS OF THE NAVY.

SUGGESTIONS MADE BY CHIEF CONSTRUCTOR HICHBORN.

Plant for Algiers, La., Recommended—Marine Railways Necessary—Work on Authorized Vessels—How to Dispose of the Armor Problem.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—In his annual report to the Secretary of the Navy, Chief Constructor Hicbhorn lays special stress upon the importance of continuing the work of improving the plants at the various navy yards, in view of the rapid increase of the number of battleships in commission.

Under the head of drydocks, the report points out that the present building program does not affect the two most important navy yards, viz.: New York and Norfolk, at which a new dock of the largest size is urgently needed, in view of the rapid increase of the number of battleships in commission.

Marine railways also are said to be necessary for the economical handling of torpedo boats, and two such are recommended at Portsmouth, League Island, Norfolk, Port Royal and Mare Island.

PEOPLE MAKING MONEY.

Will Not Throw It Away by Voting for Bryan.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 15.—Hon. Edwin T. Terrell of Texas, ex-United States Minister to Belgium, is here. He says the result of the election will be sustained by the people of the United States, adding:

"And that means the acquisition of the colonies and the general approval of the administration of President McKinley, who has shown himself to be not only a patriotic President, but a very able and far-seeing statesman."

"Mr. Bryan will be the nominee of the Democratic party, but I am of the opinion that his views on the tariff, the silver question and his opposition to the course of the administration in the Philippines will lead to his second defeat."

The people who are making money," continued Mr. Terrell, "are the farmers, who are getting good prices for their wheat, corn and other products; manufacturers, whose establishments cannot fill orders sent to them months ahead; operatives and laborers; and the people who are making money out of the change in the party administration under which all this has been brought about."

HUNGARIANS AND POLACKS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SPRINGFIELD (Ill.), Oct. 15.—One man was killed and several wounded at a christening at Auburn this evening. A riot took place between Hungarian and Polack miners, the result of a long-standing enmity. The Sheriff and a number of deputies were left here for the scene. It is believed the foreigners will resist arrest, and that a fight will ensue. The wounded refuse to allow physicians to see them. Two men suspected of the murder of the man killed are being held by the latter's friends.

A TEXAS DEBATE.

DALLAS (Tex.), Oct. 15.—George Lewis was shot and killed by John Reeves of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., here tonight in the waiting-room of the Santa Fe depot in the presence of 300 people. Reeves, accompanied by his wife and niece, was awaiting a train. Mrs. Reeves was approached by Lewis, who demanded her seat. She refused, where he attempted to eject her, accompanying his demands with profanity. Reeves thereupon shot Lewis.

"For Themselves" for Heavens. NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Sixty-eight thousand dollars was raised in Carnegie Hall for the heathens. It was obtained by the Rev. A. B. Simpson and his associates in the Christian Missionary Alliance amid the tumult of religious enthusiasm, which prevails when the alliance takes up its annual collection. Women tore off their jewels and men their coats and vests, throwing them to the collectors and shouting "Glory to God" and "Hallelujah," as they contributed all to the fund by which the alliance will keep its missionaries abroad for the year.

FEMALE SOCIALIST AGITATES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—While addressing a Socialist women's meeting in a Second-avenue hall tonight, Mrs. Florence Cantius Lang was stricken with apoplexy and died in a few minutes. Mrs. Lang came from Berlin, Germany, about seven years ago, and was prominent as a Socialist agitator.

[Seattle Intelligence.] One of the astonishing things learned by the Seattle celebration is that the Governor of North Carolina does not drink. This leaves the Governor of South Carolina in a dazed and helpless condition, the distance between drinks being too great for computation.

march to Santa Barbara. Adverse winds prevented the landing, however. Gen. Pallon's force from Buenavista is also reported to be going to Santa Barbara. The insurgents will have 12,000 men, and three or four thousand rifles there.

Gen. Magbana, according to letters, took the suburbs of Iloilo with his force, carry the city and slaughter the Americans.

A body of Tagalos, estimated to number between 500 to 1000, recently crossed from Santa Barbara to Escalante on the island of Negros, for the purpose of making Intapas's bandits in keeping under the inhabitants, who are friendly to the Americans.

THE MALABON AFFAIR.

REPORTS OF THE OFFICERS OF THE BENNINGTON.

The Tender Balanga, Under Command of Assistant Engineer Winslow, Did Great Service—Hot Engagement With the Intrenched Enemy—The Crew Commended.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The Navy Department has made public a report from Commander Tausig of the Bennington, with appended reports of subordinate officers, concerning an engagement at Malabon, March 4 last. The purpose of the department in making the report appears to be solely to make known the gallant conduct of the sailors engaged, and particularly that of Assistant Engineer Winslow.

A landing was made at Malabon by a force from the Bennington, the purpose being to take photographic views of the damage wrought by the big shells from the Monadnock fired at the priest's house, the preceding week. Although told by some Chinese that there were no armed insurgents about, Commander Tausig took ample precautions to prevent a surprise. One of the steps taken was to post the tender Balanga so as to enfilade the north wall. This boat was in charge of Assistant Engineer Winslow, and several great service. The insurgents appeared behind the intrenchments and fired upon the Bennington's people, and upon the Balanga, and an hour of desultory shooting, not being authorized to retain the place, and having taken the photographs desired, Commander Tausig withdrew his men, who were fired at as they rowed away in their boat.

Winslow is especially commended for gallantry by Commander Tausig. He said he fired the 37-millimeter gun on the Balanga eighty-seven times, and although wounded early in the action, remained in charge of the boat, and the Balanga, not only throughout the action, but until the ship returned to her anchorage about noon. The Balanga was lying close to the beach, very hotly engaged with the enemy in the trenches, and the fire with musketry against them was hot, although the men fought without cover till the Bennington's land force had gotten safely beyond range.

Upon his return to the Bennington, Winslow, though wounded in five places, sent the doctor to look after Coxswain Terry, who was slightly wounded by a bullet striking his arm, and attendance upon himself. Commander Tausig commends for special consideration Chief Master-at-Arms William Kirkman, Coxswain Terry and Private Kirkman, although, he says, the entire battalion behaved so gallantly that he is to name the deserving he found a roster of the men.

Ensign E. H. Campbell is mentioned as deserving great credit for the skill displayed in placing shells in the trench, and the engagement with the shore being at the time in command of the ship.

SOLDIERS WHO DIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Three soldiers who died returning from the war were buried with military honors at the Presidio today. They were Benjamin W. Hanson of Battery H, Third Artillery, Charles P. Shackerly of the Ninth Infantry, and James Walsh of the Fourteenth Infantry.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Columbia and Shamrock did not leave their moorings inside Sandy Hook today. No sail cover was taken off, withstanding the fact that the sun shone brightly a good part of the day and would have afforded an excellent opportunity to dry out what dampness there might have been in the canvas.It was an off day for the crews of both boats, and, barring a watch of a half dozen men on each boat, the crews were on board. Barr spent most of the day in town. He has every confidence in the Columbia, for he says the months that he has sailed her in all kinds of weather during the past summer have convinced him that she is superior to the English kites.The sight of the big kites that the Shamrock has been displaying during the past two weeks, especially the huge club topsail, does not cause the little Scottishman any alarm, for he feels that they will not be of any use in a breeze that will move the challenger at anything more than a small pace.The Columbia's crew is not suffering a bit from the many attempts to have a race, but the men would like to see a good sailing breeze before snow flies, they say, as they are not anxious to handle sails when it is cold enough to stiffen the canvas.Capt. Hogarth, Wringe and Parker have predicted that there will be no wind until Tuesday or Wednesday, and they made this statement in view of the fact that the weather forecast has so far proven true, the opinion of these experts is well worth considering.Capt. Matthews of the Erin, a skipper, with as long, if not longer, experience on the water, has the contrary opinion, and says that there is a chance of a steady wind tomorrow as a week from that time, and the change of moon has been proven by statistics to have nothing whatever to do with the weather conditions.Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the Shamrock, frankly admits that it will be a great relief to him when these races are ended. Meanwhile, he says, all he can do is to wait for wind enough to drive the yachts around the course inside of the time limit. He hopes to see the races finished this week.Because of the breaking out of the war in South Africa, it will be absolutely necessary to suspend the races very soon. Admiral Lord Beresford has been asked to return to England very anxious to see all the races, but as he is a member of Parliament, he may have to take his departure any day now in order to be present at the opening session. Several of the guests will sail for England next Wednesday.Sir Thomas was asked today why he did not sail on the Shamrock during the races."To tell the truth," he said, "my men do not want me aboard. They say it is apt to make them nervous and more liable to make mistakes. I have so much confidence in my men that I am perfectly willing to keep off the ship,
and know that they will do their best to win."Fair weather is again the prediction for tomorrow. For a period of ten days or more, an almost unbroken calm has prevailed around and about New York. To the north, along the New England coast and over the famous Marblehead course, which eastern yachtsmen are so fond of talking about,
good yatching winds have prevailed.
In strength they have at times reached as high as ten to fifteen knots. From the south and west similar reports
come.(COLUMBIA WELL HANDLED.)
(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—There is a feeling among the Columbia people and by this is meant the men who are managing the boat—that the public has been misled to a degree in regard to the handling of the Columbia on race days. They feel that certain comments have been unjust in that they lead one to believe that Capt. Barr is entirely alone, so far as professional talent is concerned. At the New York Yacht Club today, a yachtsman of national reputation and one deeply interested in the success of the Columbia, authorized the Associated Press to say that not only is Capt. Barr not alone in the sailing of the American boat, but he has at all times at his side for immediate counsel and advice the most skilful yachtsman in all the world in the person of Nat Herreshoff.The owners and backers of the Columbia, including the amateur yachtsmen on board, have the utmost confidence in Mr. Herreshoff, not only as a skilful designer of racers, but also as a great race sailor. With Capt. Charles Barr at the helm, the Columbia people are firm in their conviction that the best professional sailors in the land have been engaged.Further than this, the owners and backers of the Columbia, who are now on board, have also the feeling that the professionals have the backing of the best amateur talent obtainable.
They have just as much confidence in
Mr. Iselin and his friends as ever, and they point to past successes and a whole season of admirable management as a foundation of their confidence.This is the feeling among all the Columbia people, and so far as the public is concerned, it is the feeling of the New York Yacht Club. There is no lack of harmony in the management, and lest the American public, so much interested in the boat, should misunderstand, a leading yacht club man has asked this to be made public.(WEATHER PROSPECTS POOR.)
(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—At 2 a. m. the weather at Sandy Hook was calm, and a dense fog prevails. The prospect of a yacht race today is poor.shut-out. Callahan's support was very ragged in the last game, fearful mis-play giving the Colonels an easy victory and cheating the locals out of the opportunity to jump into seventh place.

Real Fight Was for Second Place
(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—In the National League baseball race just finished excitement on the whole was at a discount. In some respects the playing, generally speaking, was high-class. It was too much of a procession to be a race. Long before the season ended the Brooklynans were conceded to be the coming champions, their lead, after they had once gone to the front, which was on May 22, seldom being so small as not to be reckoned as safe.Brooklyn's win of the pennant, while devoid of any grandstand elements, was thoroughly impressive. The team performed the remarkable feat of never relinquishing their grip on first place after taking that position. Boston gave indications at times of wresting the lead from Brooklyn, doing some fine playing in the West, but failing to put up the old invincible game at home.
The Philadelphia team, which finished third, was a bit too strongly to win the pennant, but still good enough to be dangerous. The team held the lead at the middle of June. It went as low as fifth. Then it began climbing up again, and for the last three months alternated between second and third places.
Baltimore finished fourth in the most even and a half months. The St. Louis team, which finished fifth, was the only team besides the Brooklynians that had the lead for any length of time. At different times, however, it occupied every position in the first division.
The Cincinnati team, which finished sixth, was one of the season's features.
The Cincinnati have for their credit
the most remarkable feat of the season, winning thirteen straight games.The Pittsburgh team was a second-division team from the start, but it especially did well in the last two months, when the playing was of first-division caliber.
St. Paul was a bit too strong in the gradually went down the scale, winding up eighth, and the Louisville did a shade worse.
The New Yorks made the worst showing ever made by a New York league team. Apart from general demoralization, the New York team had the worst luck the league has ever known. Many of its players being hurt during the season.Washington was next to last, and was completely out of the great amount of experiments in players.
Of the tail-enders, the Cleveland, it can simply be said that no league team ever did so poorly.(COAST BASEBALL.) Deciding Game Won by the Oaklands from Santa Cruz.(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—The Oakland baseball nine today won two games from Santa Cruz. The deciding game of the series was witnessed by a large crowd at Recreation Park in the afternoon. It required ten innings to determine the result, and then the winning run was made on an error by Mc-Carthy, only one man being out.The game developed a wonder in the pitching line in the person of Babbitt, whose regular position has been as short. He pitched for the last eight innings, and not a single hit was made off him. He gave only one base on balls, but it was to the man who made the winning run for the opposing team.
Score. Morning game:
Oakland, 8; base hits, 13; errors, 2.
Santa Cruz, 4; base hits, 9; errors, 4.
Batteries—Borchers and Hammond;
Andrews, Babbitt and Morrow.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
SACRAMENTO, Oct. 15.—Sacr-mento, by superior batting, won a fast game from San Francisco today. The visitors were unable to hit Doyle, and up to the ninth inning they had touched him for only one hit. In the ninth they drew two more, which, with an error by Sheehan, netted them two of the three runs they needed to win.Sacramento, 6; base hits, 12; errors, 2.
San Francisco, 3; base hits, 3; errors, 2.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
FRESNO, Oct. 15.—Fresno won an ninth inning. Score:

Fresno, 4; base hits, 9; errors, 2.
Selma, 3; base hits, 7; errors, 0.

ton and Cardwell.SUSPICION AGAINST JEFFRIES.
His Injury Not Thought to Be Such as Prevents Fighting.(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Whether the championship fight between Jeffries
and Sharkey will be held as scheduled, October 27, or postponed on account of the champion having a strained arm, is uncertain, as yet, but it will be definitely settled Tuesday morning. At that time the bandages will be removed, and it depends upon the advice of a physician whether he will continue to train for the original date.
The physician who examined the arm thought the injury was not serious, and the latest advice from the training quarters are to the same effect.Bryce and Tom O'Rourke will meet in New York Tuesday and decide what is to be done. O'Rourke will take a decided step against the postponement, and thinks the injury is of no consequence. Sharkey is of the same opinion, and thinks Jeffries is of some other reason for not wanting tofight on October 27. Tonight O'Rourke said:
"I believe Jeffries will be able to use his arm in three days as well as he ever did in his life, and he must either fight or forfeit on October 27.
Sharkey had been injured just before he fought Jeffries in San Francisco. A strain in his back had affected his kidneys, and he wanted a postponement.
It was not allowed, and everybody knew the result."
"Since Sharkey has been training for this fight he has met with three accidents, any of which, I believe, was as bad as Jeff's. When it became known some time ago that Sharkey had cut his foot, they said at once he did not want to fight, and this was merely an excuse. To avoid this report being started again, we said nothing of the other accidents, and he will be ready to fight when the time comes. There must be some other reason for Jeffries wanting to postpone the fight."MARKSMEN'S SHOOT.
Dr. Forman Sets a Hot Pace for the Visitors.(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SACRAMENTO, Oct. 15.—There was a large attendance of marksmen at the

p. m. The prizes are open to all comers, and the shoot will not be finished until tomorrow night.A dinner was served on the grounds, and President Ruhlstafer of the Helvetia Club made a speech of welcome, which was answered by Jacoby and others. Jacoby said Sacramento had been the home of fine marksmen for forty years, and he was glad to see so many old-time shots present. A large crowd of spectators witnessed the shoot.Pacific Association Regatta.

third.A VOCABULARY.
Showing How Few are the Words Generally Used.[California Educator.] Some one has asked what is meant by the statement
"that an ordinary man can converse with a vocabulary of only 500 words."
The Fortnightly Review some nine years ago said that "the number of words in use among the Russian peasants did not exceed from 100 to 200."
This statement is not very far from correct. However, we have an authority who writes that "a Russian peasant is poor who has a vocabulary of from 300 to 400 words."
It has been stated over and over again that in English there are 250,000 words, and the philologist adds this large number is the accumulation of many centuries, and that nothing like that number could "have been kept except through the medium of literature." Now, it is highly possible that the English words by an adopted process and natural causes, will not diminish, but increase. Are we to include in these 250,000 words dialectic English.
Somebody asks: "Does anybody know all these 250,000?" Shakespeare's count of words shows 15,000, and of from 500 or 600 are obsolete. A Chinaman, so we are told, passes a brilliant examination when he is the possessor of 8000 words.
If in New York you can name with discrimination 4000 words you are exceedingly well to do in your lingual possessions. That exceedingly smart authority, Skeat, said when confining himself to primary words he tackled 13,500. He found there were 4000 of French origin, 5000 of French, Latin, 400 Greek and 250 Celtic and other sources. "If, therefore, we confine our attention to that portion of English which we use in the most common English proper consists of 4000 independent words."Milton, we may remark, was satisfacted with 8000 words. Nevertheless, if we have a dictionary fitted for the requirements of today, it must have in it every English word sanctioned by usage, past or present. It would never do for the modern dictionary-maker to follow Dr. Johnson, who wrote: "I could not visit caverns to learn the miners' language nor take a voyage to perfect my skill in the dialect of navigation, nor visit the warehouses of merchants and the shops of artificers to gain the names of wares, tools and operations of which no mention is found in books." What could Johnson know about steam and its applications? Take the one topic, electricity. A half century ago the whole extent of the subject might have been covered in a division into three or four words and their definitions.A vocabulary might be called a personal idiosyncrasy, which in cultured persons varies with the individual.
The superior intelligence is shown in the selection of the words used and in the nicety of handling them.Why They Love America.
[New York Sun.] A small army of musical performers are preparing to descend on the country from Europe.
Such an immigration was never known before. From the most modest performer up to Jean de Reszke they come with a hope of carrying back a fortune sufficient to keep them for the rest of their lives in comfort. They expect to earn as much here as they would during a lifetime in any other country.
How many will succeed remains to be seen. Undoubtedly Paderewski will be the greatest conqueror of the day. At he requires is a grand piano and a hall.
He once drew in Chicago an audience of $13,000 by these means.[COAST RECORD.]

Body of the Missing Beer-man Found—Tumbler.(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) SEATTLE (Wash.), Oct. 15.—By the United States revenue cutter Corwin, which reached here tonight, were brought the thirty tons of lumber Laurada, which lies a wreck in Zapadine Bay, St. George Island. The Laurada, Capt. Frank White, left Seattle September 12 for Cape Nome with a crew of forty-eight officers and men and twenty passengers. She carried a full cargo of general merchandise, hay, lumber, thirty-six head of cattle and 130 sheep. She encountered rough weather from the start, and just before 6 o'clock on the morning of September 13, was driven by wind and current into shoal water in Active Pass, but after a brief detention she resumed
her voyage.Being loaded deeply, the heavy seas broke over her bow again and again,
and by the time the open sea was reached, it had become so serious that she was forced to turn back and take the inside passage to New Metlakatlah, where she was driven ashore by fifty tons of coal were put ashore.
Thus lightened, she proceeded to Dutch Harbor, which was reached on September 25.At Dutch Harbor thirty sheep were landed. The Laurada left Dutch Harbor September 26, encountering continued stormy weather. On September 27 it was discovered that a leak had been started forward by the pounding seas. This increased rapidly, and soon it became evident the vessel would not much longer keep the vessel afloat. She began to gradually settle by the head, and the only hope of safety now lay in reaching the Pribyloff or Seal Islands, the southernmost of which, St. George, is barely 225 miles from Dutch Harbor.At 2:30 p. m., September 28, Capt.
White, after having skirted the eastern shore of St. George Island, and finding it impossible to make a safe landing, ran the now sinking Laurada into the bay of the Seal Islands.
The fire in the lower hold, which had by this time been extinguished by the rising sea waters, and the stokers were wading in the fireroom up to their knees. On the side of the island are two small frame salt houses, used for the storage and curing of sealskins. The Laurada made sail for commercial company, which has a lease of the islands from the government. The smaller of these was vacant, and the crew and passengers of the Laurada moved in. Provisions and other necessities were taken from the ship.
The live livestock was successfully landed.It was on October 3 that the Corwin, Capt. Herring, which had left St.
Michael for Seattle and San Francisco, on September 30, sighted the signal of distress flying from the mast of the Laurada. Capt. Herring consented to receive the passengers and crew and convey them back to Dutch Harbor. The third mate of the Laurada was left on the island to protect the ship and cargo from being taken possession of as a derelict, and six passengers remained to care for the outfit which they were unwilling to abandon.The Corwin's store of provisions was replenished from the abandoned vessel, and the cutter made sail for Dutch Harbor with a total of 135 persons on board, arriving in the afternoon of October 4. Here the Laurada's passengers were provided with blankets and made as comfortable as possible. The mail carried by the Laurada was also brought back by the Corwin and will be forwarded by the next available steamer north-bound.The Laurada was built in England, and became famous shortly before the outbreak of the late Spanish-American war as a filibuster and successful blockade-runner.Young Wife Hangs Herself.

BETRAYED THE PRESIDENT.

Commander of the Venezuelan Fleets Goes Over to Rebels.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
CARACAS, Oct. 15.—[By South American Cable.] Advice from Petare, ten miles from Caracas, say the people have risen against President Andrade, and a crisis is imminent. The commander of the government forces has betrayed the President, and will allow the revolutionary army to march upon Caracas without a battle.President Andrade will probably be forced to retire, reestablishing his government at Maracaibo or Puerto Cabello. Tucacas has been taken by the revolutionary forces.
United States Minister Loomis recently made a long argument before President Andrade urging a suspension of the law relative to foreign insurance companies, the enforcement of which, the Minister said, would drive
all such companies from Venezuela.
The result of Mr. Loomis's argument was that a suspension of the law was granted until March, when the statutes will be amended by Congress. This action leaves $600,000 worth of business to American companies.SEEN BY THE DUTCH.
(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Dutch steamer Prinz-Frederick-Henrik arrived today from Venezuela. The second officer of the steamer said concerning the revolution:
"At La Guayra I saw a man-of-war lately bought from Italy. She was flying the Venezuelan flag, and was ready for action. There was no talk at La Guayra, and the Prinz-Frederick-Henrik touched September 23, of President Andrade's leaving the country."
At Puerto Cabello, when the Prinz-Frederick arrived September 20, the streets were barricaded; the windows of the houses were barricaded with mattresses and bales of merchandise;
foreign residents were flying with their flag from house to house, and scattering shots were heard at night.
Gen. Castro was near Caracas with 6000 rebels, it was said.The American warship Vixen and two French men-of-war lay at Cura-cao. The American sailors had not been ashore for seven and a half months. They were so wild that they were sent to the Vixen. The Yankees cleaned out an entire street known as 'Murder street,' and forty of them were sent to the hospital.CAPT. WALSH PASSES AWAY.
Civil War Veteran Dies Suddenly from Heart Failure.Capt. James J. Walsh, a deputy in the United States Marshal's office, died suddenly last night from heart failure at his residence, No. 651 South Hill street. He was 65 years of age and leaves a widow and three children.
Death occurred at 10:30 o'clock, as Capt. Walsh was preparing to retire for the night. Mrs. Walsh stepped out into the hall to turn out the gas, and when she returned found her husband lying across the bed gasping for breath.
She summoned a physician as quickly as possible, but Capt. Walsh was dead before one arrived. The deceased had been subject to heart trouble for some years, but the attacks have generally been light, and did not give rise to serious apprehension.The remains were removed to Dexter Samson's undertaking establishment.
The funeral will be conducted under the auspices of the Bartlett-Logan Post, G. A. R., of which organization Capt. Walsh was a member.During the civil war Capt. Walsh was in the United States Army, and Union. He came to this State several years ago, and was well known in Los Angeles through his connection with the United States Marshal's office.WRITE at once to the editor of the Times

BRITISH MARKETS.

Stock Dealers Have Taken the Outbreak of War Philosophically.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS SPECIAL.] LONDON, Oct. 15.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The stock market has taken the outbreak of the war philosophically, and the event, which has had very little effect on prices, has on the whole, been rather welcome as likely to settle a disturbing factor which has long been worrying the market. Mining shares have been freely bought here and in Paris. The market was very strong yesterday on rumors of British victories, the last prices being the best, the rises ranging from 3/4 to 1 point.

The other markets displayed a firm tendency, owing to public buying, encouraged by easier money, and it is to be expected that as soon as things settle down, a sharp upward movement will occur, as there is a lot of money awaiting investment.

American securities were unsettled and had an almost general set-back, but the close was above the New York level. Baltimore and Ohio rose 1/4, but Southern Pacific fell 1/4; Chesapeake and Ohio, 1/4; Louisville and Nashville, 3/4, and most of the others from 1/4 to 3/4. Monday, and 3 per cent. for a week, while three-months' bills were firm at 4-16 3/4.

ARIZONA AFFAIRS.

NICKEL-IN-THE-SLOT MACHINES ARE DOOMED.

The Perseus Habit Works Have Among the Phoenix Youths and Stringent Measures Will Be Enacted.

Complicated and Extensive Litigation Over the Control of the Cobre Grande Mine, and the Secretary is Arrested.

W. C. Greene, Who Applies to the Corporation's Presidency, Charges Criminal Libel-Carnival Preparations-Notes.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 12.—[Regular Correspondence.] It is probable that nickel-in-the-slot gambling will be abolished in Arizona within the month. It has practically been decided that the machines come within the operation of the territory law taxing gambling games $20 a month, in addition to any tax or regulation that municipalities may see fit to impose. The City Council of Phoenix is to entirely prohibit their operation. All classes appear to be down on them, from preachers to gamblers.

The dozen white machines scattered about the city were little noticed till it became apparent that several in cigar stores were especially patronized by small children, who were sought to double, but more often lost the money given them for school supplies or for candy. The arrest of Lee Edwards, a young bootblack, called particular attention to the evil. The lad had robbed a barber shop of $18. He confessed the crime, but, when circumstances told how he had worked the slot machine till it had become a very mania, and till his very eyes had been blinded by the glare of the slot. He has been held for burglary.

The fight over the control of the Cobre Grande mine, in Sonora, south of Bisbee, is growing fiercer with time. J. Henry Woods, secretary of the Costello section, is in the center of the fracas. In Nogales last Thursday he was held for the next Santa Cruz county grand jury, under bonds of $1000, on a charge of criminal libel, preferred by W. C. Greene, who claims the office of president of the corporation, vice Costello, removed. The arrest was founded on a letter wherein Woods roasted Greene. Woods gave bonds and came to Phoenix, where the main offices of the corporation are located. He was followed by Scott Edwards, of Cochise county, with a warrant on a charge of the larceny of the Cobre Grande Company's books, for which a demand had been made upon him after his resignation from office, September 22, together with his principal. So Woods went back to Bisbee, to stand examination in court.

Scott White, singularly, is the very man elected by the Greene faction to fill Woods's place. But, by injunction served upon him here, he is forbidden to act in the capacity of secretary till the courts have regularly passed upon his claim to the office. A similar injunction document has been forwarded to Greene, but Greene is in Sonora. The whole matter appears to hang on the legality of the meeting of the shareholders held at Bisbee September 22. The Costello people secured a writ in Phoenix forbidding the holding of the meeting, but the restraining order was either delayed in transmission or has been calmly ignored.

Meantime, the Greene-Mitchell-Treadwell section has taken over to itself, with force, the possession of the mine and its 200-ton copper furnace. The smelter is being run on full time and large quantities of copper ore are being shipped. Superintendent O'Keefe, ousted, has appealed to the Mexican court for redress, but the case is taking the usual calm, deliberative course that everything taken when attached to Mexican jurisdiction.

A Back east, in New York, J. H. Costello has been sued by W. C. Greene for $75,000, alleged due for stock deferred to defendant, but not paid for. Next Saturday there becomes due the first of Costello's payments on an option held by him for a majority of the company's capital stock. If he produces $148,000, he will gain the upper hand. But only added litigation, both in Sonora and the United States, expected to result.

Important lawyers of Phoenix have become interested in the case, and every legal device possible is being resorted to.

The October term of the District Court is in progress. Chief Justice Street presiding. The territorial grand jury has been organized, with H. E. Kemp as foreman, and is now investigating the county offices. The United States court for the district was called October 23, for the trial of an unusual number of cases of smuggling, illegal timber cutting and selling liquor to Indians. The trial of the case has been thus far mainly devoted to hearing arguments on preliminary motions leading up to the trial of the large number of water cases filed against the north-side canals by farmers who seek the carriage to them of water, without the ownership or rental of water rights.

Pratt H. Frost has been admitted to practice in the court on presentation of a certificate from California.

An indefinite organization has been made of the Carnival Committee, with S. M. McCowan, superintendent of the Indian school, as president, and S. J. Mitchell as secretary. A general committee of seventy-five has been named, and this has been divided into sub-committees on finance, auditing, reception, social features, decoration, music, printing, transportation, amusements, subsistence, grounds and buildings, privileges, publicity, and information.

On the million-dollar tax roll of Apache county, the Santa Fe-Pacific Railway is assessed $257,011. Only four Indians are assessed, grossing $20,000, and are confined to sheep and cattle owners.

At Holbrook, county seat of Navajo county, a grocery called "The Bucket of Blood." The barkeeper reported that he had been held up by several armed strangers. The barkeeper demanded the contents of the till. Not desiring to make too literal the designation of the saloon, he complied. Now, under pressure of official inquiry, the barkeeper confesses that he looted the money, $18, playing poker, and invented the story to save himself from reprisals.

Sheep owners have never before known so prosperous a season as the present. For the new crop of wool, 18 cents a pound has been secured in Boston. Many of the heavy wool growers have two years cuttings on hand, and are suffering immensely by reason of their foresight.

Work has begun in Williams upon the installation of a telephone system in that town. "Central" will be at the office of the Postal Telegraph office.

The first month's session of the Northern Arizona Normal School closed with an attendance of thirty-one.

DRUNKEN PLANTS.

CURIOUS EXPERIMENTS WITH THE FANT TOBACCO PLANTS.

The Government Bureau of Pathology—Dr. Woods' Wonderful Work in Breeding Plants—On a "Beautiful Jack"—A New Kind of Orange Promised.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A litter of little tobacco plants which are being brought up on the bottle is the particular charge of Dr. Albert S. Woods of government Bureau of Vegetable Pathology.

The above expression would suggest a little more purple, and there may be some doubt in the mind of the reader as to the accuracy of the statement, but the doctor will vouch for the correctness of the comparison. He has a lot of young and growing members of the vegetable kingdom who get their nourishment from the bottle, and all their nourishment is obtained from regular stated periods. They have been separated from mother earth, and derive their sustenance in an entirely artificial manner. At the present time they are thriving nicely, but it is the cruel purpose of the doctor to make them sick. When they get old enough to be happy he is going to give them vegetable indigestion by feeding them too much of some of the things which are not for their little insides. Dr. Woods does not describe the operation in precisely this language, but he agrees that this is what he is up to. He is a doctor of science, and a wider knowledge of everything, he wants to see if he can produce certain plant diseases artificially; succeeding in that, he would know what the conditions are that produce the maladies in the fields of the tobacco grower, and he would suggest ways in order to remove any traces of vegetable matter he will be able to raise larger and better crops. That is what the Agricultural Department is doing all the time.

But to return to the infant tobacco plants. They are in pots, but there is no earth in the pots. At least there is no earth such as plants can grow in. The pots are filled with thoroughly sterilized sand of the white, clean kind which the chemists use for their experiments. Sprinkles on his floor. It is composed of pulverized silica, and is no more suitable to plant life than window glass. In order to remove any traces of vegetable matter it is treated with a solution of acid which will dissolve all but the silica.

Into this the tender roots of the foster plants are inserted. Then they are watered with some boiled and filtered water. If they were given ordinary water they would find a little nourishment in the small amount of vegetable matter which common drinking water contains. But they get nothing which has not been tested for chemical purity.

One of the principal objects of the game is to prevent heating between meals, or taking any nourishment which has not been carefully measured and duly registered in a book. Their diet is not interfered with, and they are welcome to as much of the air in the greenhouse where they live as they can make use of. But the temperature of this air is also a matter of record.

Thus fed, the hungry plantlets are fed once a day from a bottle containing a mixture of potash, iron, nitrogen, phosphoric acid, lime, magnesium and one or two other appetizing ingredients. It is diluted in about half a gallon of water, and each plant gets about a tumbler of the diluted solution. The various chemicals are compounded in definite proportions, and as they are all present, and in proper quantities, the little plants flourish like the traditional green bay tree. But remove or reduce any of the ingredients and something happens. Take away the nitrogen, for instance, and the plant will quit growing, and after lingering for a while will starve to death. Take away certain other items of the bill of fare, and the boarders may not die, but will appear listless and discouraged. The leaves will get flabby and bilious, and there will be no great increase in size. These phenomena have been frequently produced by Dr. Woods in his work.

At present the object of the experiment is to produce the plant disease commonly known as "mottled leaf," so called from the mottled effect which it causes in the leaves of an affected plant. Lots of cigar wrapper tobacco is spoiled by it every year, and a cure or prevention is greatly desired.

The experiments are not yet far enough along to permit of a light subject. For the past few weeks the doctor has been adding and subtracting from the phosphoric acid ration, until the patients have been inclined to show any mottled complexion.

On the window sill of Dr. Woods' laboratory were a couple of specimens which were undergoing some very different tests. "The development of alcohol in the roots," explained the scientific gentleman, "so this one here is being given alcohol in excessive quantities."

"Then the plant is drunk?" was asked. "Certainly," replied the doctor. "You see this one is hopelessly drunk. It has the mottled leaves, and the little plant was utterly limp. Its head drooped and its leaves hung helpless and flabby."

"Just as it does man," continued the doctor. "This fellow will stay drunk until it has worked off the alcohol through its roots. When the plant is no longer able to breathe enough to get the alcohol out of its roots it will brace up and be all right. But if I keep feeding it more alcohol, it will turn yellow and finally die."

There were several plants on the window sill still in various degrees of intoxication.

Under a pile of bell jars was another plant enjoying exhilaration of another sort. The glass jar covering it was arranged as to control the plant's air supply, and into the inclosed space occupied by the plant was sent a supply of oxygen. "That one is breathing faster and harder than ordinary plants," Dr. Woods explained. "It thinks it is in the open air. The purpose of this experiment was to determine if the mottled effect was caused by some atmospheric condition which caused the plant to overwork its leaves at the expense of its roots."

Whatever the ultimate effect may prove to be, the doctor seems to be enjoying the oxygenized atmosphere. It gives every evidence of being affected as human beings are by the highly charged and rarified air of an exalted altitude. Its head was up, and its leaves stood stiff and vigorous as if it wanted to do

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

There are those who say, "We cannot use the white angels when the rainy season is on," advancing as a reason that these men cannot sweep wet streets. There are also those—whose number is legion—who say, "What is the matter with having these men converted into men with hoses, and distributed at congested street crossings to keep the mud at a minimum?" One man could police a whole street, thus covering all the district in which plank crossings are laid and save shoe leather, profanity and the general moral tone of the community. No normally constructed woman can board or leave a car on a rainy day in this city without developing mental ginger enough to make it hot for the man of the house when he returns for rest and peace. Only angels can fit this problem, and Drain's brand has the call.

The following valuable lesson is most earnestly commended to cities and towns intent on improving public utilities, especially the public water supply. In Monrovia, the city has developed water, and for one and a half months has charged the nominal monthly rental of 50 cents per house and 1 1/2 cents per inch per hour for irrigating, yet these small rates have been much more than the necessary expenses. The conditions and environment at Monrovia differ but little from those obtaining in most towns of Southern California, and what is now a fact in Monrovia can be duplicated in any other section. It is especially stipulated here, however, that the original development and subsequent disposal of the water shall be free from jobbery and schemes as in this case, in order that similar results shall follow.

The closing down of the Oxnard sugar works, though hard on many who must look for employment elsewhere, will not be a shock without good to the resident population. In the time of stress which must come before the pay roll is again enlarged, these people will have a grand opportunity to count up the benefits of a wide-open town. How much the town has gained, and how much the nickel-in-the-slot men, dive-keepers, tin-horn gamblers and others of like kind take away with them. A fair computation will discount Hobson's choice, for the tough element will have the eggs, while the town must content itself with the soup the eggs were boiled in. It will not help matters in Oxnard to point at faults in Los Angeles. There are possibilities there that do not exist here, and the difficulties to be overcome in the sugar town are as nothing to those of a large city. Incorporate and thus hold the controlling hand!

England's Debt to America. [Fall Mail Magazine:] Passing now from questions of pronunciation and grammar to questions of vocabulary, I can express my sense of the deep indebtedness of the English language, both literary and colloquial, to America, for the old words she has kept alive and the new words and phrases she has invented. It is a sheer pendency, nay, a misconception of the laws which govern language as a living organism to despise play and apt colloquialisms and even slang. In order to remain healthy and vigorous a literary language must be rooted in the soil of a copious vocabulary, from which it can extract and assimilate, by a chemistry peculiar to itself, whatever nourishment it requires. It must keep in touch with life in the broadest acceptance of the word; and life at certain levels, obeying a psychological law which must simply be accepted as one of the conditions of the problem, will always express itself in dialect, provincialism, slang.

America doubles and trebles the number of points at which the English language comes in touch with nature and life, and is therefore a great source of strength and vitality. The literary language, to be sure, rejects a great deal more than it absorbs; and even in the vernacular words and expressions are always dying out and being replaced by others which are somehow better adapted to the changing conditions. But though an expression has not, in the long run, proved itself fitted to survive, it does not follow that it has not done good service in its time. Certain it is that the common speech of the Anglo-Saxon race throughout the world is exceedingly simple, well-nourished, and rich in forcible and graphic idioms; and a great part of this wealth it owes to America. Let the purists who sneer at "Americanisms" think for one moment how much poorer the English language would be today if North America had become a French or Spanish island instead of an English continent.

Features of Main's Circus. Walter L. Main's circus, now on its fifteenth annual tour, is said to be enlarged to twice its former size. Perhaps one of the most interesting of the many features will be a detachment of the famous Roosevelt Rough Riders; also Rough Riders from the regular United States Cavalry, many of whom took an active part in the battle of San Juan Hill. The circus will exhibit at the Main and Washington street grounds on October 25 and 26.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

LAST WEEK'S HEAVY RAINS INTERFERED WITH WORK.

Report That the Southern Pacific Company is Going to Use Oil Confirmed—Santa Fe's New Well at Fullerton—Concerning Coalings.

The heavy rains of last week greatly interfered with work in the Los Angeles field. Producing wells are holding up, and it is now believed that the present production is slightly in excess of the average of the last three months. But, as against that, the consumptive demand continues active, and stocks are still being drawn upon to supply it. Prices continue firm, without change.

The report that the Southern Pacific company has made a contract with producers in the Coalings field for the delivery to it of an average of 1000 barrels a day for a long period, some say four years, is confirmed. Now that the Coalings field is proving itself a steady and large producer of oil, it is the opinion of oil men that the Southern Pacific company will, as soon as the locomotives are ready to burn oil, become the largest consumer of petroleum on the Pacific Coast. The saving in the cost of fuel in using oil instead of coal will be very great, and now that the managers of the company seem to have satisfied themselves that a continuous supply of oil can be depended upon, they will, undoubtedly, use it to the fullest possible extent. And when, in connection with what that company will require, it is remembered that the Santa Fe company is using an average of 1000 barrels of oil a day in the production of that field, it is not difficult to understand that the demand for oil will be sufficiently great as to encourage further production.

It was learned on Saturday at the offices in this city of the Santa Fe Railway Company that their well No. 18, in the Fullerton field, had just come in and was showing itself to be a good one. The pumping plant was put in on Thursday, and although exact figures of its production had not been forwarded to the company's offices, it was known that it went over one hundred barrels during the first day, with every possibility of its continuing to do as much as that for some time to come. The company is now sinking wells Nos. 13, 15, 16 and 19. They started on the last one last week.

The Times has received a communication from Cochran & Co., engaged in the oil business in this city, taking exception to the statement of George D. Easton of the production of the Coalings field, published in this column last week, and which, in effect, was that the present production of that field is 4500 barrels of oil a day. Messrs. Cochran & Co. write: "Mr. Easton's report of the big output of oil in the Coalings field is exaggerated. There is a small pipe line to the loading station—two-inch line—and no storage, so to speak, in that field."

Mr. Easton was called upon and asked if he had anything to say in reply to the above statement. He answered: "The trouble with Messrs. Cochran & Co. is that they are talking of what they know nothing about. They say that there is only a two-inch pipe line in the Coalings field. Before making such an assertion they ought to have made sure of their facts. The fact is that that two-inch pipe line was abandoned last January and a three-inch pipe line was put down. With light-gravity oil, such as is that of the Coalings field, a three-inch pipe line can carry more than 4500 barrels of oil a day. The carrying capacity of a three-inch pipe line is, I should say, fully double that of a two-inch pipe, but as to the exactness of that I am not prepared to speak. All that I can say is that the present pipe line can carry more than 4500 barrels of Coalings oil every twenty-four hours."

The Union Oil Company, when asked concerning the relative carrying capacity of a two-inch and a three-inch pipe line, replied: "It is as 4 to 3. By that it is seen that, other things being equal, a three-inch pipe line can carry over two and one-quarter times as much oil as a two-inch pipe line, the fraction being proportionately less in the larger pipe."

Messrs. Canfield & Chanslor are going to erect a 20,000-gallon oil tank at the mouth of the cañon leading to Oil City, in the Coalings field. It is learned that the contract for the construction of it has been let to the Lacy Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles. A three-inch pipe line will be run from the field to the tank.

The Santa Paula (Cal.) Chronicle reports the sale to San Francisco parties of the Fortuna Oil Company's properties, situated at Buckhorn, a few miles east of Santa Paula. The Chronicle states that the price paid for them is $25,000.

The Oil City Derrick reports that oil in the Pennsylvania field is now selling for $1.50 a barrel.

The United States Consul at Batavia states in a report to the State Department, Washington, that there is increased activity in the production of petroleum in Borneo. He writes: "In the northern part of the island the Bombay-Burmah Trading Company had encouraged enough to warrant its building a refinery. The firm of Sam Samuel & Co., which is the same as the Shell Line Company, is also doing extensive prospecting, and up to April 28, 1898, eight spouting wells have been bored by this company. A refinery is also being built at Balikpapan, to which the oil will be carried by pipe from Sanga Sanga. Numerous other explorations are being carried on by other firms, but no definite results have yet been reached. The consular reports that petroleum, coal, marble, the precious metals and diamonds have been discovered; that wood and water are plentiful; and that the only difficulties in the way of development are the climate and the lack of proper laborers. This latter trouble is being solved by the importation of coolies from China and Java."

Western Sports, published in San Francisco, makes this editorial comment on the items:

There is little doubt but what this is a world's record, and it is to be hoped that it will remain such for all time to come. Seven hundred birds in one hour and a quarter! Six men kill 1500 birds in a day's shoot! Of all high-handed hogswash, his takes the prize. All the men named are all prominent in San Diego, and Mr. Babcock has to do with a celebrated hostility that advertises many advantages for sportsmen. If he thinks thoroughly imbued with the idea that game must be protected that they will be up in arms as soon as they learn what Mr. Babcock and his associates have done. 'Babcock's bag' will be a byword with them, but, perhaps, the gentleman hunter did not know as much as he thought he did. If the story printed in the Sun is not correct, it should be denied by those who have been credited, to their discredit, with killing so many birds. If it is true they are worse than any set of market hunters, for the latter are at least cunning and the latter depends upon their skill. When six, mex. kill 3500

Athletic Club Has Two Good Fights

The preliminary go will be an event in itself. Sailor Bob Melton of San Francisco will have a ten-round bout with Hank Griffin, a local fighter, and as the men like the game and are not afraid to mix matters, a lively time is anticipated.

Sharky is as hard as nails, and Jeffries feels in better trim than when he put Mr. Fitzsimmons prostrate on the canvas in the sleep of defeat. There has been no considerable betting yet, and the prospects are that it will be an even-money proposition.

BASEBALL.
Merchants Defeat Los Angeles Team
With Score of 9 to 2.
Yesterday's game at Fiesta Park between the Merchants and Los Angeles between the Merchants and Los Angeles teams resulted in a clear-cut victory for the former team. It was a clever exhibition of the national game, and the superior fielding and all-around errorless playing of the winning team was a surprise to the fans.

Settles was in the box for the Merchants, and held the opposing batters down to seven hits, three of which were bunched in the fourth inning, and notted two runs. The winners bunched

Los Angeles scored their third run of the fourth inning. Moore, the first man up, was thrown out from short to first. F. Whaling lined the ball out over two bases, went to second on a single and scored on W. Whalline's out to left field. Tripp stole second, and went to third on the next play, a single by B. Whaling. The Merchants scored two in the first on a single by Solly, a two-bagger by Gray, and a single by Held scoring on a sacrifice. The Merchants scored fifth, when Smiley singled, and Barris followed with a base hit; Bresino made a sacrifice, forcing the third run. In the third, four singles and a sacrifice by Guercio's single over second scored Barris and Bresino. The eighth netted the Merchants two runs on a single and two bagers and two errors. The Pico Stars have added another scalp to their trophy list by defeating the Hooey baseball team in a well-played game. The score was 13 to 8.

With six weeks more in which to finish out the season the winner of the Pacific Coast League can hardly be picked yet. The Sacramento aggregation still leads in the pennant race, but a few games the wrong way would change the positions. The Oakland team, which has heretofore been next season is still in the air, with a strong probability of accomplishment. Stockton, San José, and Watsonville are asking for admission, and Vallejo fans are predicting that they will be in the league next year.

Possibly the reason for the result in the two games is that both of the teams have an unusually large amount of raw material this year, and sufficient time has not yet elapsed to whittle it into shape.

ANACONDA ARRIVES.

Third Great Race at Agricultural Park—Large Crowd of Visitors.

Several thousand people visited the great racers at Agricultural Park yesterday. John R. Gentry, Joe Patchen and Anaconda were the chief attractions. It was Anaconda's first day at the track. He was accompanied by T. E. Keating's string having arrived from Louisville, Ky., yesterday afternoon. Although much fatigued by the long journey, Anaconda showed wonderful things expected of him next Saturday. Anaconda is a large bay horse, and although power on every line, has not the same finished appearance of John R. Gentry or Joe Patchen.

not alone in the race programme that will be played by the association. The first played is enterprise. It has selected as starting judge for the harness events Charles A. Willis, the well-known turf writer and speedway driver of the New York Driving Club, a gentleman who has a wide reputation as an earnest advocate of honest racing. He has been elected to the position of chairman of the Eastern Smith, ex-secretary of the State Agricultural Society, will be associate judge and also act as handicapper for the running events. James Caldwell, the prince of starters, will wield the flag for the running races. The high chair

The Level-headed Trotters, Flying Pacers and Gorgeous Gallipers.

Well, it is just one week from now to the great pacing race of the 21st, the greatest harness event that will ever have taken place in this State. Both John R. Gentry and Joe Patchen have been on the ground for nearly three weeks, and are thoroughly rested up from their overland journey, and the big string of Thomas E. Keating, which includes Anaconda and Coney, the two favorites, are in their respective stables and should have arrived here last night. While it is now less than a week to the urday, and covered the distance in 2:07.10, going well within himself and not over-exerted. That figure is plenty fast enough for a work-out. I remember that when in Australia, in 1888, a New Zealand land horse called Unakahal had a mile race with a seven-year-old milksop (Melbourne cup distance) in 3:40, which is eight pounds more than he would have been obliged to carry in the race. The trial was one and one-half seconds faster than Grand Fleuret's in 1880, and two and one-half better than Chesters' or Martin Henry's. All these were the winners of the Derby and Melbourne cup. The trial took place at the house of Unakahal that he did not come out one, two, three in the big race; and horse a very moderate trial, and left him with plenty of steam in reserve for the day of the big race. John R. Gentry is now in the very pink of condition, also, and looks as "The Druid" does. Stated for the Derby, which is 1931) like "a horse with a hide of silk and a heart of oak."

The rains of last Thursday and Friday have softened the track and rendered it so springy under foot that a judicious use of the sawrow will make it almost as perfect as the best of the mud.

Mr. Andrews said to me, the other night: "Everything is favorable here for a fast and a fair race. The track is in perfect order, and my horse is feeling very hearty. I shall have no excuses to offer if he is beaten." Mr. Dickerson says: "Everything is being done that can be done to render this the pacing race of the year. The other nag will know that he has been to a horse race if old Joe has to be contented with second money." It is very pleasant and reassuring to hear visitors and horsemen talk in that way. "Old Joe felt glad to get back here," said his groom to me, the other day. "He recalled that pleasant winter he spent the greatest three-year-old race in the world, and one one occasion in his career he won eight times in a row, between 1300 and 1732 and seven on two other occasions. Even as late as 1380 I had not won eight times in a row, but I hope they won't declare it off. It was a bundle of money to make it over nine furlongs, how much more if it was 10. I was a mile and a half at distance, there would probably have been a dozen or more nonhumans, a mile and a half are very scarce. The Tennessee boys run every March at the track, only one mile and a half, eight, nine, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 81 met any such mares are Beesling Alice Hawthorn or Lily Agnes, leaving such great distance-goers as Priam Rataplan, Charles XII or Lanercost entirely out of the question. But those are the horses of the past, and the two-year-old racing was again well known. Only five of the list above given were trained at two years old. The figure placed after a horse's name indicates the number of seasons he was raced.

There is a national question involved in the matter of excessive two-year-old racing. We have to depend upon thoroughbred stallions for a large por-well mounted, Australian-bred sound runner, and a good but less stylish year-old racer, and her colts' legs have a chance to get well hardened. Look at Merman, who has had three campaigns each, in Australia and England. This year he won both the Goodwood Cup and Goodwood Stakes, forty-eight hours apart, a feat actually never done before. Merman started, but twice as a two-year-old, and was unplaced. This led to his retirement from which he emerged a good sound horse, good enough to win the Cesarewitch and several handicaps in England, besides several good races in Australia. You'll find him in the year last year by Calman and the Democrat. The things that this season must now clear up are the $50,000. Both these horses were foaled in New Jersey, and bred by Pierre Lorillard. Democrat will now be the logical favorite for next year's Derby although the Middle Park winners have won the Derby only three times in fifty-five years. They have won Two Thousand, Guineas five and the St. Leger three times. But Democrat will have an easier sailing than Calman did, for Flying Fox was known to be a good one even when Calman beat him, and the Yankee's victory was regarded as a fluke, which opinion afterward

The first of a series of homing-pigeon races from San Diego to this city to place yesterday under the auspices of the California State Federation of Homing Pigeon Fanciers. The race was for young birds which had never before been entered in such a contest.

There were more than 100 birds released in the afternoon, and made very slow time, which indicates that they encountered severe unfavorable winds. The air line distance of the race is 112 miles. The first bird to reach its loft was O. Miller's, registered number, G. 13,940, and to him will be awarded the diploma, the trophy of the race. The average speed of the bird was 703 yards per minute. Other races will be held at frequent intervals throughout the winter.

The condition of the men on the transport he describes as something frightful. AGAINST THE SALOONS.

UNIVERSITY PEOPLE OPPOSING RACE-TRACK BARS.

Two Meetings Held, Petition Signed and Money Raised to Assist Their Cause—May Resort to the Courts and Secure Injunctions.

Agitation against the proposed sale of liquor at Agricultural Park during race week was started in earnest at University yesterday. University Methodist Episcopal Church was the headquarters for the anti-saloon people, and they were there in force at both the morning and evening meetings.

"We intend," said P. B. Chase, president of the University Good Government Alliance, "to uphold the law. If the City Council has wrongfully granted a privilege to the Agricultural Park Association or any one else, to open a bar at the park during race week, we will apply to the proper officers for the enforcement of the law. We are preparing to oppose the granting of a restaurant liquor license on Goodnow avenue, outside the park, and will fight this proposition before the Police Commissioners at their meeting next Tuesday. We will investigate carefully, and if the law is being violated by the granting of this so-called 'special privilege' for liquor selling during race week, we will fight that matter in the courts. Every means of redress within the law, will be employed."

Rev. F. M. Larkin, pastor of the University Church, devoted his address yesterday morning to a consideration of the saloon problem. In his discourse he said:

"With regard to the bars that are to be opened at Agricultural Park this week, it is hard to know what to do. For ten long years there existed a liquor-selling place there in direct violation of the law. During those years we paid our public officials thousands of dollars, and they saw that the law was violated. The Supervisors overlooked the selling of whisky on Sunday and the other breaches of the law. Then a few private citizens came before that body. For ten hours the question was argued before them. Finally the license was revoked and $2000 bond was declared forfeited. Has that bond been paid? No. Our public officials will hold their hands, till some private citizen compels them to do their duty. The saloon ordinance that was passed a few months ago was a compromise. Last Monday's resolution passed by the City Council was in direct violation of that compromise. The action of the Councilmen on last Monday was sudden, but it seems to have been prearranged. After a diligent search in the offices of the City Clerk, the Mayor and the City Attorney, we were able to secure a copy of that resolution or ordinance, or whatever it may be. The Supervisors revoked the Agricultural Park license because the law had been broken. The City Council has given the same men a privilege to break the law again. Is it not time that there should go a protest from this community? The bars that have been opened this week are against the law and against them we protest now. The effort to get a saloon restaurant license for the place just outside the park must be checked before it has passed before the Police Commission. If that license is granted, whisky will be sold throughout the year. Let us act. We showed what we could do when we won the University annexation fight. We can win again."

At the end of the service a petition was presented for signatures. It is as follows: "To the Honorable Board of Police Commissioners of the City of Los Angeles: We, the undersigned citizens, duly qualified of the city of Los Angeles, hereby petition your honorable board that you refuse to grant a restaurant saloon license on Goodnow street, or in the vicinity of the Agricultural Park." A great many signatures to this document were secured yesterday. It will be circulated today and presented to the Police Commission tomorrow by a committee consisting of P. B. Chase, E. M. Fickett and William Bowen.

The members of the Good Government Alliance were busy in the afternoon distributing cards, announcing the address to be given in the evening on the saloon question. The Executive Committee of the alliance had secured Rev. E. S. Chapman, superintendent of the California Anti-Saloon League, to speak on the subject. The mass meeting was largely attended. Rev. Chapman suggested resorting to the courts. "It is in the province of any citizen to enjoin the council on breaking the laws which it has passed," he said. "I believe that public officials usually want to follow public opinion. We must show that we mean it when we say that laws must be enforced. We outnumber the saloon men ten to one. When we present our petitions let us give the public officials to understand that we are in earnest. They know our power, and will hasten to grant our demands."

At the close of the address a subscription was taken up, the funds to be used in engaging attorneys and conducting a fight in the courts against the saloons, both the bars inside the park and the restaurant saloon outside. The Executive Committee of the Good Government Alliance will hold a meeting this evening to devise ways and means for a campaign against the saloons. William Bowen, the attorney of the alliance, said that the bars will not run during the races without an attempt being made to close them. An ordinance duly adopted by the council cannot be set aside by simple resolution," he said. "We propose to fight this matter in the pulpit, in the press, by petition, and before the courts of law."
